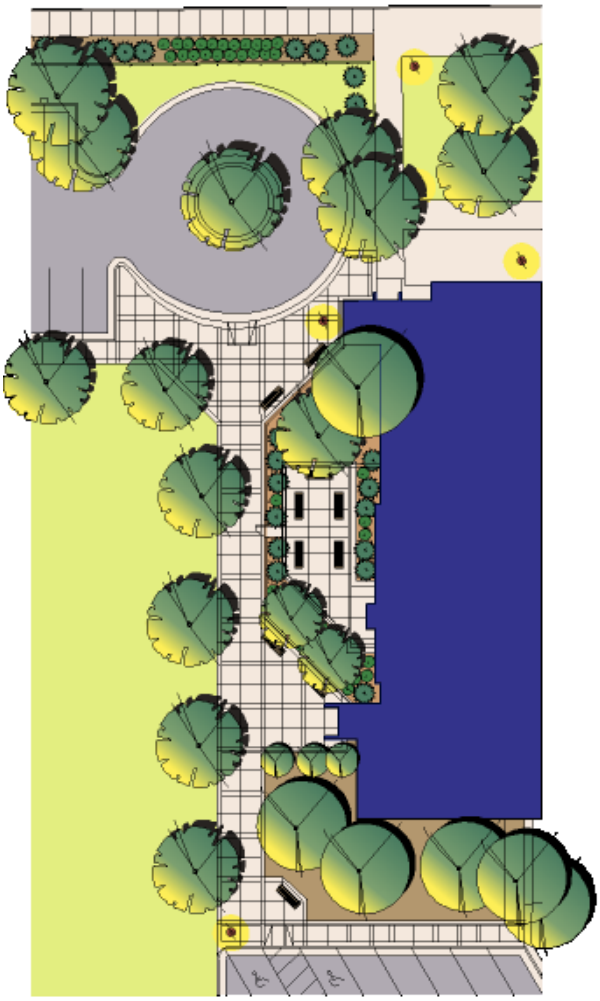
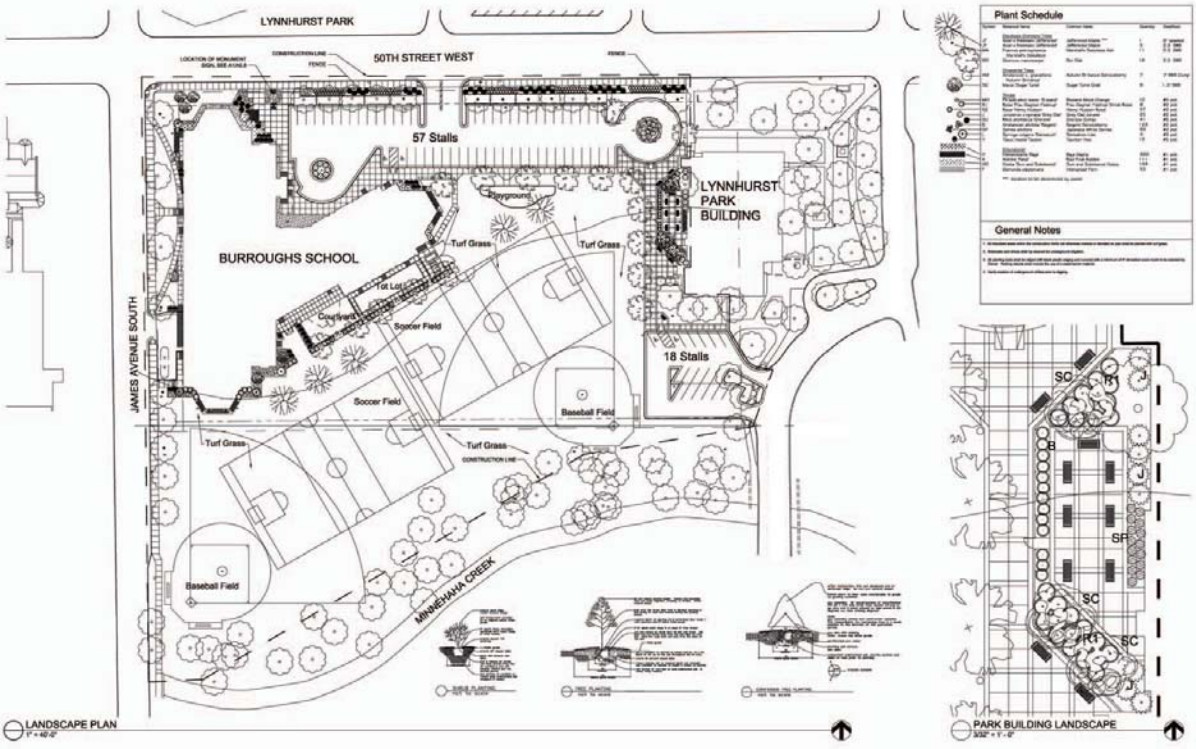
Burrough's School
Minneapolis, MN

Ingraham & Associates was contracted by Kodet Architects to provide landscape design services for a new school in South Minneapolis, located adjacent to Minnehaha Creek and connected to the Lynhurst Recreation Center.

The project was a collaboration with Ingraham & Associates, the Minneapolis Park Board, The Minnesota Landscape Arboretum and Kodet Architects.

The project consisted of the tear down of the old school attached to the Lynhurst Recreation Center, the construction of a new school facility separate from the Recreation Center and the remodelling of the Recreation Center.




Ingraham & Associates provided consultation regarding tree preservation and recreation as well as providing the landscape design for the site. The project was completed in October, 2003.